'All Depends' On Russians For Treaty on H-Test Ban

LONDON (Reuters)—A British spokesman said today that a treaty banning nuclear tests "could be concluded very quickly" if Russia is willing to co-operate when three-power talks on the issue resume in Geneva next week.

"Everything depends on the Soviet attitude and we will see how the negotiations go next week," the foreign office spokesman told reporters.

He said that parts of Tuesday's Soviet note to the United States and Britain agreeing to the resumption of talks were obscure "but we do not find any explicit conditions which we cannot accept."

He said that Sir Michael Wright, permanent head of the British delegation to the three-year-long talks, would be returning from the United Nations Thursday to lead the British negotiators.

The United States and Britain proposed the resumption of talks Nov. 13. The proposal was accepted Tuesday and Russia said it was ready to resume negotiations Nov. 28.

Columbia Now Dead—Strachan

Robert Strachan, B.C. opposition leader, Tuesday charged in Victoria, the B.C. Power Commission and the government's established position on Columbia River development.

"As far as I can see, development on the Columbia River is now dead," he said.

Mr. Strachan was attending hearings to determine whether the B.C. power commission should be given a licence to build dams at Mica Creek, High Arrow and Duncan Lake as part of the Columbia power development.

The CCF-NDP leader described the hearings as "a sort of charade."

Liberal Leader Pearson Tuesday night in Hamilton, Ont., warned trade unions that by associating themselves with one political party they may make themselves less effective in advancing the rights of their members.

Mrs. T. D. Pattullo, the widow of a former B.C. premier, died in Victoria Tuesday.

She married "Duff" Pattullo in 1899, when he was with the civil service in the Yukon. They later moved to Prince Rupert where her husband was elected mayor.

Lack Of Peace Treaty Aids German Militarists

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. Amasasp Aroutunian, Soviet ambassador to Canada, said today the absence of a German peace treaty makes it possible for West Germany to start a new war.

He told the McGill conference on world affairs at McGill University it is abnormal that after 16 years of victory there is no peace settlement with Germany.

"The absence of a German peace treaty makes it possible for the West German militarists to prepare a new war, this time a nuclear war," he said.

"They (the West Germans) demand quite openly nuclear armament."

Dr. Aroutunian said Russia will do its utmost to ensure a peaceful solution of the German peace treaty issue and the status of West Berlin.

"There are no international problems today, including the West Berlin issue, which are worth a devastating nuclear war and which cannot be solved by peaceful negotiation," he said.

Papuans Murder Official

HOLLANDIA (AP)—Papuan tribesmen murdered and mutilated a 32-year-old Dutch administrator and two native policemen at a village in the Dutch Guinea jungle last week, police revealed today.

The killing took place at a village called Djadam, 40 miles west of Hollandia.

Police said the Dutchman, A. M. Nijkemeyer, the local government head in the Nimbora district, sent his five porters ahead from the village to prepare a camping place.

After he and the two policemen failed to turn up at the camp, the porters returned and found their mutilated bodies. Police patrols sent out to investigate found that the villagers at Djadam had fled.

The area had previously been classified as "peaceful."

Officials said there was no connection between the murders and the disappearance of young Michael Rockefeller. The river where Rockefeller was last sighted was hundreds of miles from Djadam.

More Berlin Talks Needed JFK And Adenauer Agree

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer were reported today to have agreed that Western powers should hold further exploratory talks with Russia on a Berlin settlement.

They were also reported in agreement on basic Western policy positions to be taken if the talks lead to formal negotiations.

The U.S.-West German policy conference ends today with a final White House session. Adenauer is due to leave for Bonn early tonight.

A communique reflecting a high degree of agreement between the two leaders on Berlin issues was to be released in mid-afternoon. It was expected to stress Allied determination to protect West Berlin against Communist pressures and at the same time to keep the way open for a peaceful settlement with Russia.

Advance indications of the results of the conference, which began Monday, were expected in a luncheon address to be made by Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder at the National Press Club.

TALKS WENT WELL

A joint German - U.S. statement said the White House talks had gone well.

"The talks involved an exhaustive and productive discussion of the current status of West Berlin and its relationship with the Western allies," the statement said.

E. Germans Fire At Boy Aged 14

BERLIN (Reuters)—East German police today shot at a 14-year-old boy as he stopped to pick up a package of food thrown to him over the border wall by West Berlin friends.

The shots did not hit him but West Berlin police said the boy was taken away by the East German police. The incident happened opposite the French sector.

TERRY JO NOW RECOVERING

Terry Jo Duperrault, 11, lies in a hospital bed, above, as she recovers from her 80-hour ordeal at sea. She is sole survivor of the ketch Bluebelle, which coast guards believe was sunk by Capt. Julian Harvey, after he had slain seven people aboard—including his well-insured wife and Terry Jo's parents. He apparently left Terry Jo on the sinking yacht, and he was later picked up aboard a raft by a merchant ship. When he heard the girl had survived, Capt. Harvey committed suicide. Coast guards reconstructed the story from evidence given by the little girl.

Homes Of Two Hoffa Men Rocked By Bomb Blasts

Bombs were exploded at the Detroit area homes of two officials of Teamster Union President James Hoffa's home local Tuesday night. There were no injuries.

The bombings were at the home of Larry Campbell, 36, a business agent of Local 299 and at the home of Frank Fitzsimmons, secretary-treasurer of the local and a Teamster international vice-president.

Campbell was missing today and police were seeking him. There was no immediate explanation for his absence.

A dynamite bomb rocked and damaged the Campbell home.

Campbell's wife, Betty, 36, said Campbell told her he was going to a union meeting when he left home early in the evening.

Scientist's Fallout Views Under Fire By University

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Dr. James Van Allen and seven other University of Iowa physicists take issue with Dr. Willard Libby's syndicated series of articles on how to survive atomic attack. They call it "extremely dangerous."

Dr. Van Allen, who detected the radiation belts circling the earth through satellite studies, heads the Iowa physics department.

The Iowa physicists, in a letter to the editor of the Iowa City Press-Citizen, said of the series by Dr. Libby, a Nobel Prize chemist:

"It is extremely dangerous to give the impression to the public that the building of fallout shelters will enable the average citizen to survive a nuclear war."

COULD MEAN END

"This gives a false sense of security. The percentage-wise small margin of safety gained in no way detracts from the very real possibility that an atomic war will mean the end of the civilizations of both opponents."

Dr. Libby, asked by The Associated Press by telephone for his comments, replied:

"I agree that anybody who interpreted my article as saying that fallout shelters make atomic war tolerable should be outraged."

"I did not intend to say anything like that. What I intended to say was that fallout shelters greatly increase the chance of survival for those who were not hit directly by blast or thermal burns."

"That is my message."

Dung-Cart Justice Probe

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—The Dutch public prosecutor will investigate "midnight dung-cart justice" meted out recently on a couple suspected of adultery by the people of the village of Staphorst.

Justice Minister Albert Beerman Tuesday night told Parliament he would not make a statement until he received a report on the affair.

Eleven days ago the couple, a woman of 48 and a man of 45—both married—were pulled through Staphorst's streets in the dung cart while crowds jeered them.

The woman had been dragged from her bed in her nightgown. The man was run to earth at a tavern in a

RABBITS THAT HIT BACK ...

COLUMBUS, Miss. (AP)—Twice now an assault on a rabbit has sent the hunter to the hospital.

Ernest Jackson Tilley, 20, was shot in the leg by his own gun Tuesday when he tried to finish off a wounded rabbit by slugging it with his shotgun butt.

Airman Stephen K. Ross was wounded in the stomach in a similar situation the day before.

Both hunters were reported in satisfactory condition.

Smoke Scent Saves Lives Of Family

VERNON (Staff)—The smell of smoke from a fire blazing in their basement probably saved Mr. and Mrs. William Hagens and their four young children from certain death.

The Hagens awakened to find their house full of smoke from a fire started by a blowback in their sawdust furnace.

The Hagens woke their daughters and ran out in the snow in their bare feet after trying to phone firemen. The fire had damaged the phone connection.

Vernon firemen were summoned from a house near the blazing home at 4110 Thirty-Fourth Street.

They were able to confine the blaze to the basement though it badly scorched the main floor.

Damage is estimated at more than $1,000. The Hagens are newcomers to Vernon and were renting the house.

Woman Faces Murder Charge

SUBURRY, Ont. (CP)—An Estaire woman was charged with capital murder today as she lay in her hospital bed in Sudbury Memorial Hospital recovering from what provincial police said is a self-inflicted shotgun wound.

Charged with capital murder as a result of the shotgun killing of her 17-month-old adopted daughter Jean in Mrs. Kelly Goulet, 25, wife of a department of highways employee.

Mrs. Goulet's husband returned from work on Nov. 14 and found the child's body, mutilated by the blast of a .410 shotgun. Mrs. Goulet was lying on the bed with a shotgun wound in her left shoulder.

A much less optimistic report came from reporter Brian Hogen of the Sydney, Australia Daily Mirror who after a flight over the Flamingo Bay swamp area said he was convinced "only a miracle" could save young Rockefeller.

Arriving in Dutch New Guinea after a transpacific jet flight, Rockefeller was told that his son was only about two miles offshore Sunday when he began swimming toward land and not 15 miles as reported earlier.

Dutch navy men told the governor they had hopes Michael—a strong swimmer—had reached the shore because a radar search had found no trace of the two empty gasoline cans the youth had been using as a makeshift raft.

A spokesman for the governor said if Michael, 23, had reached the shore, there is a chance he may be alive. He added that a Dutch marine was recently lost in the same area and was rescued after eight days.

The governor flew from here Tuesday to Mernuke, on the southeast coast, the headquarters for the search of Flamingo Bay, where the governor's son disappeared Sunday.

UK GOV'T TO BE PRESSED FOR CANADIAN TALKS REPORT

LONDON (CP)—The government will be pressed Thursday for a statement on the talks between Canadian Finance Minister Donald Fleming and British leaders earlier this week.

Anthony Fell, a Conservative back bench, has placed on the order paper a request for a statement by Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys on his talks with the Canadian minister.

He also will ask why the full text of Britain's opening statement in her negotiations to join the Common Market has not yet been given to Canada.

Searchers Now Optimistic Of Finding Rockefeller Jr.

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (AP)—Optimistic reports from searchers today raised New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller's hopes that his son Michael would be found alive.

Arriving in Dutch New Guinea after a transpacific jet flight, Rockefeller was told that his son was only about two miles offshore Sunday when he began swimming toward land and not 15 miles as reported earlier.

W. German Tourists Admit Spying on Russia For U.S.

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Two West German tourists pleaded guilty today to charges of spying for the United States and one of the defendants testified they had sought to pinpoint Soviet rocket bases and rocket factories.

Peter Sonntag, 22, and Walter Naumann, 27, entered the pleas when they appeared before a three-man military tribunal in Moscow's supreme court building accused of spying "in the guise of tourists."

Sonntag testified he was recruited by two Americans who said they represented the United States information service in West Germany.

He said they suggested he find a companion for the trip. He lined up Naumann.

"At a later meeting I met another American and told him that I would go to the Soviet Union with Naumann," Sonntag testified.

He said he and Naumann were told to locate rocket bases and rocket factories and were informed by the Americans of likely allies.

OTHER INSTRUCTIONS

Sonntag said they were also instructed to note radar installations, railroad cars for transporting rockets and motor vehicles for carrying liquid oxygen.

He said they were trained for the spying mission in Frankfurt, West Germany, in a secret apartment and given 2,000 marks (about $500) and certain equipment for the trip by the Americans.

Sonntag said that after they crossed the Finnish frontier Sept. 3 they took photographs and notes.

The trial, expected to last two days, opened the day after a Russian protest to the U.S. alleging that the Americans were using tourists to spy on the Soviet Union.

Automotive Men Protest At Probe's Advice on Duty

OTTAWA (CP) — A brief protesting certain recommendations by the royal commission on the automotive industry is to be presented next month to Prime Minister Diefenbaker and other members of the cabinet.

The Canadian Automotive Wholesalers' and Manufacturers' Association said today in a statement that it takes strong exception to portions of the report dealing with changes in import duty regulations on auto replacement parts.

No date has been set for the meeting.

The commission report prepared by Dean Vincent Bladen of the University of Toronto economics faculty suggested among other things that auto manufacturers be eligible to import parts duty free by meeting standards assuring Canadian content of their products.

President A. L. Gray of the parts association said today this means an unfair advantage for the manufacturer over the parts wholesaler in selling replacement parts because the wholesaler "can never hope to achieve this duty-free status on imported parts."

The result would be serious dislocation and unemployment. Mr. Gray said about 19,000 Canadians are employed by auto parts manufacturers and another 12,000 by wholesalers.

The Bladen report was made public June 20. The government has asked for the views of various groups on the report.

FAO Budget Given Approval

ROME (Reuters) — The United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization conference today approved a $31,185,000 budget to finance the body's work in 1962 and 1963.

The United States, Britain, France, West Germany and Canada, who bear the main burden of financing FAO, Monday night tried unsuccessfully to cut the original $31,585,000 budget by $1,000,000.

Dr. B. R. N. Sen, director general of FAO, today got agreement to a "global" cut of $400,000, which he said would be possible "without hurting ourselves too much."

The last biennial FAO budget totalled $21,500,000.

BOY! DID IT SNOW — 3.4 INCHES

A typical scene first thing this morning in Kelowna was one such as above where Alf Quemby of 515 Broadway Ave. brushes the snow from his car. Mr. Quemby, like other city residents, faced a snowfall of 3.4 inches when awakening this morning. City Public Works Department reports that a complete crew has been out since 4 o'clock this morning sanding and plowing all of the main roads. All off-streets were being sanded at press time today and were to be completed early tonight.

ACCIDENTS, COURT

City Man Breaks Ankle In 40-Ft. Fall Off Pole

A passing motorist came to the aid of a Kelowna man who fell 40 feet from the top of a power pole Tuesday. Kenneth Veale, Christleton Ave., was working at the top of the pole at the Peachland television re-broadcasting station when his safety belt apparently snapped. A passerby, C. P. Jinks of Penticton found Veal and rushed him to Kelowna General Hospital. Police received a report the man had a possibly fractured ankle and suffered cuts.

The hospital said today his condition appears fairly good at present. FACING CHARGES A Kelowna youth who was sentenced in police court yesterday to three months in jail on each of two theft charges will face further similar charges in Kamloops. The sentences will run concurrently. Robert Nicholas Hobal, 19, was charged this week with stealing purple gas and motor parts remains in custody in Kelowna while police conduct further investigations. Two juveniles, each charged with theft of a rifle appeared in juvenile police court Tuesday afternoon and were remanded for a pre-sentence report until Nov. 28. The thefts occurred in July and September, according to Magistrate Donald M. White.

MINOR ACCIDENTS

Winter conditions brought a rash of minor accidents as cars slithered and swerved through the latest dance craze, "The Twist" thanks to the snowfall yesterday. At 4 p.m. Tuesday, police said Amy Murrell of Kelowna was backing her car out of a parking spot on Bernard Ave. when a second car, driven by Mary Hay is alleged to have run into her car. Icy roads were blamed. There were no injuries and no estimate of the damage was made. No charges have been laid.

COLLISION

Damage was estimated at $150 by RCMP after another rear-end collision at Brookside Ave. and Caroline Rd., when a car driven by Mrs. W. A. Benn was beginning to make a left turn and was hit from behind by a second car driven by Henry Irizawa also of Kelowna. Police report there were no injuries.

MILK SHORTAGE

The new milk quota system, which is due to be put in effect next March, bases fluid milk quotas on the low months of production and utilization in the Kamloops-Okanagan area. The intention of the Milk Board is to curb production but SODICA directors who handle 80 per cent of all qualified milk producers, insist there'll be a milk shortage in the summer months if production is cut. Other SODICA objections are: 82 per cent of the dairy farmers in the area don't have large enough production to make a decent living. Minimum is considered to be 600 pounds of milk per day. The proposed freezing of milk quotas has caught 110 veterans in a tough spot, men who are trying to get established in dairying but have a $1,000,000 debt through advances made to them by the Veterans' Land Act administration. The cut back will leave them in great difficulty trying to meet their financial obligations.

PE To Be Topic Of Raymer PTA

"Physical Education in the Elementary School" will be the topic of the Raymer PTA meeting to be held on Monday, November 27, in the Raymer Avenue Elementary School. Mr. R. Haskins and Miss M. Ritch will display some of the activities with groups of pupils and will discuss the primary and intermediate programs. All parents and interested friends are cordially invited to attend.

TENTATIVE PLANS DISCUSSED BUT —

Police Building Up To Voters Now

Cost of a new $128,000 police building to the individual taxpayer-voter in Kelowna will be approximately 10 cents a month. This was calculated roughly at a publicity meeting held Tuesday at the city hall and attended by city council members, RCMP, the John Howard Society, the architect of such a building and the press. Chairman was Alderman E. H. Winter. EARLY STAGES Tentative plans, not yet in the "down to earth" stage, have been discussed but are yet to be formalized pending the results of the Dec. 7 referendum which goes before the voters here. The building itself, on the S. M. Simpson property at Doyle Avenue and Water Street, would front on Doyle next to the proposed community auditorium. A Civil Defence fallout shelter, which would house emergency council sessions, district CD communications and other CD facilities, would probably be incorporated in the basement of the building, a $10,000 CD grant from the federal government paying for this centre. TO CONTAIN Main floor would incorporate police administrative offices, 12 double cells, cells for women and juveniles, a "tank" and a maximum security room. The upper floors would contain a court room, Magistrate's office, probation officers' quarters, a witness room, barrister's room and the RCMP identification and investigation division staff. These general plans, not yet in a layout stage, were described to the meeting by architect John Wood. INADEQUATE Staff Sergeant G. McKay, NCO in charge of the Kelowna RCMP area, confirmed the need for new police quarters, describing the present setup in the city hall as "completely inadequate". They were originally designed to house the chamber of commerce and the space is now urgently required by a growing city. Mr. Wood, in his suggestions to the meeting, emphasized the need for a planned building which would be designed so it could be added to, especially as Kelowna's future may be one of the quick growth when new roads open up the Interior north in B.C. "The prime purpose of jails is security and sanitation", said S/Sgt. McKay. They should also be well lighted. Present quarters do not include such facilities in many respects, hence the city's and police desire for a new building. The $128,000 bylaw, in its present repayment schedule would require $11,000 per year, or about half a mill. This amounts to $2 per year for each taxpayer or 16.18 cents a month. PUBLICITY Mayor R. F. Parkinson suggested that publicity advocating passage of such a bylaw should be done not only through press and other news media, but by individual addresses to service club meetings and other such gatherings by aidmen.

City Chamber Still Keen On Mission Creek Beach

"Never say die" appears to be the Chamber of Commerce motto on the matter of public beaches. Tuesday night, an offer was made to supply enough sawdust to fill in a beach in the Mission Creek area which would have to be filled before it's of any use.

ROAD REPORT

It's Slippery Under Snow

Drivers! Use certain amount of caution on highway because of the number of slippery sections under the fresh snow. Salmon Arm: Two inches fresh snow. Plowing, and sanding. Vernon: Four inches of snow. Plowing, sanding. Kamloops: Two inches of snow. Plowing, sanding. Allison Pass: Eight inches of snow. Plowing, sanding. Road in fairly good winter condition. Princeton-Merritt: Three inches of snow. Plowing, sanding. Penticton: Three inches of snow. Ditto. Revelstoke: Four inches of snow. Same. Kelowna: Four inches of snow. Plowing, sanding. The beach is in a Class C rating and members have been told it would be expensive to fill in the area. The city has said it hasn't any fill to spare and both Council and Chamber of Commerce have been exploring ways and means to create a new playground in the area. According to members, the sawdust wouldn't be hard to get but transportation from the mill to the beach area is the problem. It would cost roughly $2 a load. Chairman R. H. Wilson said he talked to several Rotary members who appeared "to be more than casually interested in the south end site 'inview of the fact Rotary is apparently going to lose its Westbank beach to a new camping development.' He also suggested the Department of Works could be approached to put in fill from the lake bottom along the proposed beach front where the lake bottom is very shallow, anyway. Members agreed all suggestions were worth investigating.

Kelowna's war memorial cenotaph may soon have a new home.

Tuesday night, Chamber of Commerce members recommended the cenotaph be moved from city park to the Memorial Arena grounds.

They plan to approach the Canadian Legion executive for its approval, and then send a delegation of Legion and Chamber of Commerce members before City Council. L. N. Leathley, who brought the matter up at the Tuesday meeting, said the recent Remembrance Day ceremony in the park "was the limit".

He added he thought the Legion seems to be in favor of the move and pointed out that a quieter place for the memorial would be desirable.

Mr. Leathley said the park is a very busy place in the summer and elderly people of the town who come to remember the dead and perhaps sit quietly for awhile should have a chance to do so.

Chairman R. H. Wilson suggested the parking lot beside the Arena could hold the crowds which gather on Remembrance Day and some benches could be installed. Members voted unanimously to approach the Legion.

Chest Only $703 Short Of Object

Despite some objection, Community Chest executive members have publicly thanked the auditorium fund committee for "soft-peddling" its own campaign this fall. The thank-you came at the Chest wind-up meeting last night when campaign manager John Dyck told members the appeal is $703 short of its goal but will likely hit the mark when several more returns are in.

AGAINST IT This year's Chest appeal had two theoretic strikes against it: the public appeal to raise $40,000 for a new auditorium and the Red Cross blood donor publicity drive both coming at the beginning of this year's appeal. Tuesday night it was suggested Chest members and the Red Cross sit down to discuss the possibility of working out a non-conflicting schedule for blood donor clinics next year and/or discuss again the Red Cross joining the ranks of the Community Chest. A meeting will be arranged at the next general executive meeting some time in December if the Red Cross is agreeable.

JOHN DYCK

... expresses thanks

The Chest returns were broken down into sections last night by Mr. Dyck.

Business, $9,438. Residential, $15,200.30 including $3,760 from the Mission, $225 from North Bannockburn and $703.47 from South Bannockburn. Payroll, $2,082.50 from 183 donors.

Depots, $2,812.20 including $713 from a radio-phone blitz. Mr. Dyck said a few new ideas which came up during the campaign this year should be remembered next year including the organization of depots set up in 10 businesses and the "phone-in" campaign held in the fifth week of the appeal this year.

In his report, he reviewed the whole campaign this year and made recommendations for future campaigns. He suggested that a campaign manager, publicity, canvass and payroll chairman be appointed early next year. He added that some of the zone leaders be given a rest and fresh blood be appointed next year to make more people more familiar with the Chest.

For his own part, Mr. Dyck expressed his thanks for the "outstanding co-operation" of the news media, zone leaders, canvassers, city crews who put signs, Council, Chamber of Commerce and "each and every donor."

Tourist Association Names New Officers

New officers for 1962 for the Okanagan Valley Tourist Association will be President A. N. Duncan, Kelowna; secretary, Fred Heatley, Kelowna; and vice-president, Frank Blanchard, Vernon.

The "Matching Grant" legislation passed this year by the Provincial Legislature has been of great benefit and it is anticipated that this may be increased in the future.

Outgoing president is W. A. Lougheed and secretary Bruce Howard, both of Penticton.

The object of the organization is to promote tourism in the Okanagan Valley area and was formed in 1957 with C. D. Gadsden, Kelowna, as president. Past projects of the Okanagan Valley Tourist Association include the printing of pictorial Valley brochures, erection of highway signs, newspaper and magazine advertising, floats, and information booths, etc. A budget of from 12 to 15 thousand dollars is projected for 1962 with special promotional effort to be placed on the proposed opening of the Rogers Pass Section of the Trans-Canada Highway and the Seattle World's Fair.

Tourist Information Booths at strategic points are also proposed as well as painting of existing highway signs.

NOT AGGRESSIVE

Several members pointed out the auditorium committee wasn't "aggressive" in its own campaign during the initial stages of the Community Chest appeal and even loaned its phones during the Chest's "phone-out" blitz last week.

Several points of interest came up last night. Publicity chairman David Northrop told members the Kelowna Camera Club had offered to make a slide presentation and script of the work in the Chest's agencies.

He said it would be extremely useful in the Chest's campaign next year to be shown at service club luncheons, on television and so on and recommended this year's executive approve of the offer and set aside $50 for the club's use.

VERNON SYSTEM

Campaign manager John Dyck said one of the first things that could be looked into now the campaign is officially over, is Vernon's system of canvassing. Canvassers were given cards printed with the names of the households they called on. If there was a donation, the card was turned in.

Mr. Dyck was highly complimented last night for his man-

Soviet Military Leaders Gain More Influence

The 22nd Congress of the Soviet Communist party is over but its events continue to cause anxious speculation around the world. One interesting and perhaps significant development was a sudden upsurge in military representation in the higher levels of the party. This has given some strength to the suspicion that for some time the Soviet military leaders have been a powerful influence in the government.

Before the Congress, four senior officers of the armed forces were full members of the Central Committee of the Communist party. Now the number has been raised to twelve. The commanding officers of all four services—army, navy, air force and the new "rocket troops"—have seats on the committee, as well as men holding other key posts such as Marshal Ivan Konev, commander of the Warsaw Pact forces, and Colonel-General I. I. Yakubovsky, who commands Soviet troops in Germany.

This appears to be an acceleration of a process which has been going on for some time. Although the Soviet Union has always maintained a large military establishment, the armed forces used to play a rather lowly role in the state. Stalin, in particular, was intensely suspicious of the officer corps. He organized an elaborate spy system to keep tabs on the loyalty of its members, and during the great purges of the 1930s he had the greater part of the high command executed.

Premier Khrushchev's attitude is different, either from choice or circumstances. He appears to have relied a good deal on army support in his struggle against the so-called "anti-party" group. Under his rule, service leaders have acquired a prestige and influence they never enjoyed before. This has been symbolized, for example, by the many occasions on which Defence Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky has acted as the government's spokesman.

This probably was inevitable. The foreign policy of the Soviet government over the last fifteen years has brought it into direct contact with the other Great Powers, and created a constant danger of war. In these circumstances, the civilians in the Kremlin must have to rely more and more on the advice of military experts.

The effect of the change is something that only the future will tell. It is tempting to wonder, however, how much this increasing military influence is responsible for the tough Soviet moves of recent months, such as the renewal of nuclear tests.

The Law Is An Ass

There are times when the law is as such is absurd. A recent incident in Ontario pointed up this fact and causes us to wonder just what would happen under such circumstances in this province.

In August three men were convicted of drinking beer around their campfire a few feet from their tent—that is, legally speaking, in a place other than their residence. Now it is announced that the liquor control board is refunding the $10 fines and the magistrate's office is covering the court costs.

This action will undo the financial damage which the unfortunate beer drinkers suffered, but it will not remove the conviction from their records. Nor will it repair the damage which has been done to public respect for the law by this ridiculous case.

If the law is an ass, as it certainly was in this incident, the law should ficial action.

The report of the incident does not clarify whether or not the men's tent was their official residence and they broke the law by drinking their beer within a few feet of it. One wonders whether a tent is an official residence. And, too, if so, if the men were on private property would they have been convicted? If a tent is not an official residence, what about a summer cottage? If a cottage is, why not a tent? And what about a trailer? If a trailer is considered an official residence, is a person drinking beer just outside subject to a conviction?

The Ontario incident gives rise to all sorts of questions and possibly confusing circumstances. The moral would seem to be that one should be extremely careful about drinking beer in places other than one's permanent residence.

In Passing

It is wondered what the person who says it is thinking about when he says, "War is unthinkable."

"The United Nations," said Old Sorehead, "have become little more than a sounding board for propaganda and a clearinghouse for international insults."

"It's strange that the professionals in football are invariably much better players than college football players, as many colleges have the best players that money can buy."

People can train themselves to become injured to almost anything. Already an increasing number of people are able to relax thoroughly while sitting on the brink of nuclear war.

"It is virtually impossible for a man to teach his wife to drive a car," says a traffic expert. Well, yes; no doubt that's high up on a long list of things it's all but impossible for a man to teach his wife.

Britons Brooding Gloomily About 900th Anniversary

LONDON (CP)—While Canadians bubble with plans for their 1967 centenary celebrations, Britons are brooding about the impending 900th anniversary of the Battle of Hastings.

No one doubts the battle's importance. Despite strong challenges from dates like 1588, 1805 and 1940, the year 1066 retains its unique connection with the greatest invasion England has ever known.

Because of this every self-respecting Englishman is perfectly aware that the creative conscience of his race was forged in the battle heat at Hastings.

But there are problems—as Hastings borough council learned recently when it announced plans to mount a joint Anglo-French mock invasion to commemorate the Norman Conquest.

Although 900 years of integration makes it difficult for many people to decide whether Hastings was a tragic defeat or a glorious victory, reaction to the council's plans reveals that Anglo-Saxon attitudes are bitter still and Norman blood can boil yet.

TAKING SIDES

Battle ranks began to form in the letters column of The Daily Telegraph and the first arrow—a Saxon shaft—came from the bow of Rear-Admiral G. J. Creswell.

He deplored the fact that an English defeat by a foreign "gangster" should be celebrated at all. Harold, the admiral asserted, was undoubtedly the "noblest figure" of the fray.

Retaliation came from Norman sympathizer Mary Darby. She pointed out that "by the standards of the day the Bastard of Falaise had the strongest possible claim to the crown of England."

A Celt named O'Connor sided with the anti-Saxons by damning Harold as a murderer's son, a bigamist and a usurper who met his just reward by dying with a Norman arrow in his eye.

As the ranks began to close, an impartial bystander suddenly turned anger into confusion by announcing that William did not land at Hastings at all.

"It is indisputable that William landed at Pevensey, some 12 miles west of Hastings," wrote Trevor Norman. "Accordingly the worthy villagers of Pevensey are going ahead with plans to celebrate the landing in their own village."

BATTLE STEPS IN

At this point an historical society in a Sussex community called Battle, named after the inland village where the forces met, decided it was time to soothe the belligerents with a "band of brothers" theme.

Chairman C. T. Chevallier—a suspected Norman—said the society fully appreciates all the graces and virtues of Harold but also believes that the Normans, although cruel, "imparted organization and cohesion to the previously discordant English."

"We of Pevensey, Hastings and Battle are surely right to commemorate this great if tragic happening. For in us, as demonstrably in all Englishmen everywhere, mingles the blood of conquerors and conquered alike."

INSIDE YOU AND YOURS

Fat, Water, And Bunions

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Dear Doctor: Does safflower oil help release fatty acids, in turn, burn body fats? I need to lose 20 pounds.

Mrs. H. C.

Dear Mrs. C.: Acids from unsaturated fats like safflower oil may combine with fatty cholesterol inside the intestine.

This combined cholesterol can't be absorbed back into the blood stream. And so you may lose up to one gram of fat each day—one pound in 15 months!

Dear Doctor: Why should cortisone make me gain weight? I've never had trouble with my figure before.

Mrs. O. B.

Dear Mrs. B.: Extra water is weighing you down, not extra fat.

Salt gradually builds up in your system when you take cortisone. You need loads of water to dilute this salt. And water is heavy—a square basin, one foot on each side and one foot high, holds 62½ pounds.

TUBAL OPERATION
Dear Doctor: Will a tubal operation affect my monthly menstrual flow?

Mrs. D. L.

Dear Mrs. L.: If the womb and one ovary remain, the operation shouldn't disturb your regular schedule. Still, worry, concern and congestion from the operation may make matters a little irregular for a while.

But once the wound heals, you can count on that old calendar again!

WHAT ABOUT THIS BUNION?
Dear Doctor: Can you have a bunion on the little toe?

Mrs. R. T.

Dear Mrs. T.: Yes! Most bunions start when the big toe is squashed and bent towards the pointed tip of narrow shoes. Tight shoes can also bend in little toes.

Daintily called bunionettes, little-toe bunions can pain just as much as their big-toe brethren!

REMOVING TONSILS
Dear Doctor: When is the best time to remove tonsils?

Mrs. T. G.

Dear Mrs. G.: When they're incurably sick or causing other trouble!

Repeated tonsillitis, ear infections, tonsils or adenoids that interfere with breathing and eating, all call for surgery. The surgeon may remove tonsils, adenoids or both to prevent any possible need for a second operation.

Don't judge tonsils by their size. The large—usually healthy—tonsils found in every eight or nine-year-old are no reason to rush to the operating room.

OTTAWA REPORT

Sober Senate Ability Pool

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
Prime Minister John Diefenbaker has titillated the curiosity of politicians by his hint that Parliament may, at its next session, consider a measure of Senate reform.

The Fathers of Confederation established our federal Parliament as a two-chamber assembly for two good reasons. Our Upper House, the Senate, was designed to provide for the careful and dispassionate revision of legislation, and to protect the rights and interests of minorities.

In the words of Sir John A. Macdonald, our first prime minister, the Senate was intended to ensure a "sober second look" at bills passed by the House of Commons. This has been considered to mean that the elder statesmen in the Senate would have the time and experience to render workable the details of legislation which might have had too hasty study in the Lower House; and this the Senate repeatedly achieves admirably. Further, it is argued that the Senate is able to modify any extreme measure which might be proposed by the Lower House under the pressure of electoral necessity rather than in the longterm interest of Canada.

The Senate was initially created with 72 seats, one third representing the Maritimes, Quebec and Ontario respectively. Later the new western provinces were likewise accorded a total of 24 seats; and later again Newfoundland was allotted six newly created Senate seats. Thus today the Senate totals 102 members. This allocation counterbalances the preponderant representation enjoyed in our Lower House by the two most populous provinces.

POOL OF ABILITY

The Senate today contains a hard core of experienced politicians and statesmen, who together handsomely excel the abilities of a like number of our best parliamentarians in the Lower House. Their work is seen at its excellent best in committee. For example, the most profound study carried out by Parliament in recent years was the report of the Senate committee on manpower and employment.

But for various reasons and in sundry ways, the full potentialities of our Senate are today not always attained.

The most valid and most widespread criticisms of the Senate heard on Parliament Hill today are attributable to two obvious but easily remedied factors.

TRUE WORKING CHAMBER

First and most detrimental: there is no system of pensions for ex-Senators. Hence economic necessity prevents many an aged Senator from resigning his seat when his state of health renders this not merely desirable but imperative.

Second, the Senate at times becomes a band of explorers lacking a knowledgeable guide. There is a good case for no Senator accepting a seat in the cabinet; but contrariwise there is a case for giving the Senate a source of informed knowledge of governmental policies, by including associate ministers in the Senate.

The most appropriate compromise heard here is that a number of Senators, drawn from the party enjoying a majority in the House of Commons and thus forming the government of the day, should be appointed as additional "parliamentary secretaries", one to each of the key ministries.

Thus the responsibility for sponsoring public bills in the Senate would be spread around among several specially and currently informed Senators, who would also be able to contribute exact current knowledge on the policies and affairs of their departments during debates in the Senate.

REPORT FROM THE U.K.

Hotel Standards Council Target

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.) Correspondent
For The Daily Courier

EASTBOURNE, Sussex—The city corporation of Eastbourne, a popular summer resort on the south coast of England, is looking far ahead into the future in its plans to maintain that popularity by providing amenities which visitors will enjoy and appreciate. It is setting up standards for its hotels which will fix the leases of those on corporation property up to the year 2050. And those who wish to remain in business after the present leases expire in 21 years time will have to agree to a set of minimum standards of accommodation laid down by the town council.

This situation arises from the fact that the corporation of Eastbourne is the ground landlord of the Royal Parade, facing the seafront. The properties there consist mainly of hotels with leases which expire in 1982. But this year, 21 years in advance, the council has given notice of the conditions on which these leases may, in that year, be renewed as far ahead as the middle of next century, the year 2050.

There are two main conditions on which these leases may be renewed. First is an increased rent to be decided by the district valuer. The second is that the hotel proprietors provide accommodation up to a minimum which has been agreed to by the town council. Some of the conditions seem quite onerous to the hoteliers. There must be at least one bathroom to every 10 guests, and a separate lavatory for every seven guests. These are minimal standards.

There must be a wash-basin with a constant supply of hot water in every bedroom, with central heating or gas or electric fires. There must be light fittings over beds and wash-basins and points for electric shavers.

Electric passenger elevators must be provided. The interior of the hotels must be redecorated every five years and the exterior every three years. There must be at least 10 square feet of space to every person in dining rooms and 20 square feet in lounges and communal rooms. There must also be at least six square feet of space per person in kitchens and stores.

The hoteliers have known for some time of the conditions on which they can renew their leases, but at that time the council has not finalized its minimum standards of accommodation. So far, none of them have either accepted or rejected the council's proposals.

Canadians 'Handicapped' By Proximity To States

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's decision is not made out of the kind of timid and unimaginative desire to maintain the status quo that is in danger of becoming a Canadian characteristic, by their resulting unwillingness to develop distinctive Canadian products, H. F. Macdonald, of the University of Toronto's department of political economy said Tuesday.

Addressing the annual tax conference of the Canadian Tax Foundation, Mr. Macdonald said that Canada should lead the Commonwealth into association with the Common Market.

Canada, he said, "has not demonstrated the imagination and vigor that is required to adapt our economy to a world of growing trade communities." An "enlightened commercial policy" could secure and strengthen the Canadian position in the North Atlantic trading triangle of Canada, the United States and Western Europe, including the United Kingdom.

"Surely," he said, "our answer is to turn more strongly to Europe and the world — not 'Commonwealth or Common Market,' but 'Commonwealth and Common Market.'"

Another speaker suggested that Canada "would be well advised to investigate in detail the feasibility of economic union with the United States."

He was Roy A. Matthews, economist with the National Industrial Conference Board in Montreal.

"If we decide against an economic alignment with the United States let us be sure our Kunayev referred to "serious breakdowns and shortcomings" in the virgin lands of Soviet Asia and said that grain production had decreased.

BC Tree Fruits Miffed By Views Of Columnist

VERNON (Staff) — The B.C. letter to the editor taking objection to what he termed an annual meeting learned Tuesday that B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. has taken a strong objection to a business column in The Province Nov. 18 suggesting better salesmanship is needed in the fruit growing industry.

Tree fruits sales manager Carl Stevenson said the company is preparing a lengthy letter to the editor taking objection to what he termed an annual meeting learned Tuesday that B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. has taken a strong objection to a business column in The Province Nov. 18 suggesting better salesmanship is needed in the fruit growing industry.

Three More To Contest City Poll

VERNON (Staff) — Three more people have filed nomination papers for the coming municipal elections.

Michael Lemski has filed his intention to contest the one-year term created by the resignation of Ald. Ellwood Rice who will run for mayor.

Also to contest the one-year term is Mrs. Hedi Lattey.

John Nakonechny, another business man, has filed papers for a two-year aldermanic term.

Only other person who has nomination papers is E. Bruce Cousins who will contest with Ald. Rice the mayor's seat made vacant by the resignation of Mayor Frank Becker.

Fruit Growers May Seek Parity In Gas Prices

VERNON (Staff) — A gasoline sales co-operative may result in renewed efforts by North Okanagan fruit growers to achieve parity in gas prices between the Interior and lower mainland.

The Vernon local, B.C. Fruit Growers Association Tuesday endorsed a resolution of local grower Robert Davison which seeks increased efforts by the BCFGA to have gas prices reduced from the present level, 23-27 cents more than in Vancouver.

The resolution suggests that if the BCFGA executive is not successful in obtaining parity or near parity then the association should consider establishing a co-operative such as the Surrey Co-operative which results in gas at lower prices than those obtainable in the Okanagan.

An earlier resolution of the BCFGA called for a government investigation into interior gasoline prices.

The latter will be considered by the B.C. Federation of Agriculture meeting in Victoria in about a month.

Grower John Kosty said the idea of a gas co-operative would be discussed at that time with the Surrey Co-op officials who are expected to attend the meeting.

Mr. Davison's resolution will be presented to the BCFGA convention in Vernon in January.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Dear Sir: A group of self appointed individuals have taken upon themselves a right to spoon feed the general public with a thought that what they are being fed with is good for them. I have in mind the so called group Civic Action Committee presenting a complete slate of candidates for the positions of mayor and aldermen and telling us now here look, this is the best thing for you.

First of all it does take away from us the right to judge each individual separately and to vote as one sees fit. It also suggests that the whole slate in some way or other is pledged before hand to support the views of a certain group, who in one way or other represents its own points of view in preference to a general and varied public opinion.

It gradually relieves the general public from interest in the civic affairs because for one reason they begin to feel that individuals are helpless to fight a clique, and another reason why worry about the civic affairs and who runs them, the self-appointed group will spoon feed us and tell us what's good for us.

I believe the whole idea is not to the best interest of our city and I for one wish to use my own brains and to utilize the full right and responsibility as a citizen.

Your truly,
A. DeLORME,
3505 Thirtieth Ave., Vernon

Mr. Stevenson said apple stocks in both Canada and the United States had increased over last year.

He said inventories as at Nov. 1 in Canada were 9.7 million bushels compared to just over eight million at the same time in 1960.

U.S. stocks to the same date were 57 million compared to 49 million in 1960.

He said sales to the United Kingdom appeared to be on the increase and that the new Red Spartan variety was gaining popularity in both North America and offshore markets.

PRICE OF CHRISTMAS TREES NOW NOT EXPECTED TO RISE

The price of Christmas trees is not expected to rise this season, and may even be down on last year.

There had been suggestions that a big United States demand for interior trees would cut the local supply and push up prices.

Spokesman for a tree wholesaler said: "It's early yet to say what prices will be. But I don't think there will be a rise, although there could be a slight drop."

Forestry officials said trees being exported to the United States and eastern Canada have been sold for higher wholesale prices.

"But the wholesaler may be forced to bear the increase himself because of competition from other areas," they said.

READY FOR BIG OPENING

Ready for the opening of the new Kelowna store of William Arnott's Credit Jewellers are Mrs. Irene Hanson, 1 and Mayor R. F. Parkinson will be in attendance at the store at 11 a.m. Thursday. Official opening will be at 9 a.m.

Arnott Jewellers' Firm Opens Kelowna Store

William "Bill" Arnott has come a long way since he left Chilliwack Senior High School to work for the Don Lange Jewellers back in the summer of 1949.

On Thursday at 9 a.m., Mr. Arnott will open his second Wm. Arnott Credit Jewellers store at 433 Bernard Avenue, Kelowna, the former site of Pettigrew Jewellers and, more recently, the Paramount Music Store.

The story of the development of Wm. Arnott Credit Jewellers however, is an interesting one.

When Mr. Arnott completed his senior matriculation year, he actually intended to go to university, but Don Lange prevailed upon him to go to work in the Chilliwack store. Mr. Lange recognized the Arnott possibilities at once.

During the following year, 1950, William Arnott was transferred to various Don Lange stores in the Fraser and Okanagan Valleys and acquitted himself so well he was appointed manager of the Kelowna branch, a position he held for four years.

From the experience gained and the ambition nurtured, Mr. Arnott has never looked back.

He opened his own first store in Vernon in 1955, developing and enlarging the premises at

At Wm. Arnott's Credit Jewellers the featured merchandise is of course jewellery. But in addition, diamonds, watches, chinaware, crystal, silverware, copperware and many items of general gift merchandise are all available in a complete price range.

Budget and credit facilities make shopping at Wm. Arnott Credit Jewellers an easy task—easy on the pocketbook and easy for the shopper who seeks a gift for a loved one or a distant friend.

On Thursday, opening day for the new store, many specially-priced items will be on display and door prizes are being offered from the minute the door opens at 9 a.m.

Christmas shoppers, and shoppers at all other times of the year, have long enjoyed Wm. Arnott Credit Jewellers' big feature—free gift wrapping of any purchase. This is a great boon to the men who are seeking a gift for their wives or friends, for men traditionally dislike wrapping and are therefore, seldom good at it.

The Kelowna branch is also featuring this service, and coupled with special prices, this will undoubtedly be of great encouragement for pre-Christmas shoppers, saving hours of time and trouble.

Employees at the new Arnott Credit Jewellers' Kelowna branch are all local residents.

For instance, the new store manager is Ralph Oslund, a young man raised and educated at Rutland and who, until recently, was an employee of the famous Henry Birks and Sons Ltd. store at Regina.

Sales staff includes Mrs. A. Quemby of Kelowna, who has Rounding out the local staff are Mrs. V. Verran and Mrs. R. Dolman, who will assist during rush periods for the convenience of shoppers.

The new store will feature glass shelves, mirrored displays and incandescent lighting.

The Wm. Arnott Credit Jewellers have made a large investment in Kelowna and have created employment in the city. Therefore, they ask only public support for their newest venture.

Mr. Arnott, a married man with two lovely daughters, has placed his faith in the future growth of Kelowna.

He has truly come a long way.

Roving Canadian NATO Men May Be Primed On H-Arms

LONDON (CP)—Canada's roving NATO parliamentarians may go home primed to inter-ment in the controversy over argument as far as Europe is concerned, whether Canadian military forces should have nuclear weapons.

During their European tour plenty of atomic hardware is available to NATO members and the Commons have seen the problem in a wider NATO pernot change the nature of the problem.

Apart from Canada, all the forces on central European front except Denmark and Norway have atomic weapons.

The Canadian forces have Honest John missiles without nuclear warheads. Their atomic "coverage" would come from British forces nearby.

"We're surrounded by countries with nuclear capacity," said a military informant.

The NATO parliamentarians went to Paris last week for the seventh ministerial conference of NATO parliamentarians. They have no official status in the Atlantic treaty organization but their opinions may be influential in their own countries. New members of Canada's delegation will probably go home "pro-nuclear" than before.

Their opinions may have some impact on a Canadian cabinet that is believed to be deadlocked on the issue.

Needlework Art Featured In Library Display

Kelowna's new library board room this week is a glow with the rich colors of an ancient needlepoint.

As far back as several centuries B.C., sumptuous canopies and seat coverings woven by the Egyptians and the colorful hangings made by Italian and French workers in the 16th century were both examples of the age of this highly decorative needlework.

Kelowna's Art Society's display is a real treasure with needlepoint so delicately and artistically worked that from a distance some of the framed art appears to have been painted in oils or water colors rather than woven with thread.

Two good examples of the color possible in needlepoint work are separate copies of Chisholm's "Red Boy" and the equally well-known "Blue Boy." For breath-taking realism two scenes of the Rockies appear to have been painted. One particularly eye-catching panel is a Chinese scene featuring a tiny pagoda.

There are 44 pieces in the collection, among which are several samples of rugs, panels and seat covers woven in brilliant threads.

One suggestion only to the Art Society: A small sign pointing up to the display would be helpful.

WATCH-MAN

The word "watch" used today to describe a small portable, personal time-keeping instrument, originated with portable clocks, called "watchmen's clocks" and carried by town watchmen, say Bulova Time Centre historians.

NEEDLEWORK ON DISPLAY AT LIBRARY

This week at the Okanagan Library, Kelowna Art Society is presenting a display of needlepoint, one of the most

United Church Manse Scene Of Quiet Wedding Ceremony

In the presence of relatives and a few close friends a pretty wedding was solemnized at the United Church Manse on Saturday, Nov. 11 at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when Peggy Lois Neil, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Neil of Peachland and Francis James Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Rice of Ladysmith, exchanged marriage vows. The Reverend C. A. Warren officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a blue sheath, with matching jacket, fashioned in bracelet-length sleeves with flared cuffs, and Peter Pan collar trimmed with pearls. Her pill box hat, also pearl trimmed, was entone and she carried a white Bible, on which were sweetheart roses and pink carnations.

Mrs. R. Gale, of Pentlcton, cousin of the bride, as matron of honor, was gowned in a printed nylon over net. Her hair was styled in a single yellow rose and her accessories were entone. She wore a corage of yellow carnations.

Mr. Donald Cousins acted as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Neil chose a "sailor blue" crepe afternoon frock with matching lace collar. The skirt featured three panels and her corsage was of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony, refreshments were served, with the bride's four cousins, Mrs. Wilton Formo, of Pentlcton, Evelyn, Sue and Vickie Bradbury, acting as serviteurs.

The lace covered bride's table was charmingly decorated with a bowl of pink roses flanked by two tall white tapers at one end and a beautifully decorated wedding cake, nestled in blue tulle, at the other end. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Doris Beatty, presided at the tea urn.

Mr. Ray Neil, brother of the bride, proposed a toast to his sister, to which the groom responded and Mr. Donald Cousins toasted the matron-of-honor. Out of town guests included: the bride's uncle, Mr. N. W. Neil, her cousins Mr. and Mrs. W. Formo, Mr. and Mrs. R. Gale and Mrs. Doris Beatty, all of Pentlcton; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Neil of Oyama.

The needlework table, in charge of Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. F. I. Jackson and Mrs. Fred Topham Jr., had many lovely and useful articles for sale and business was brisk immediately after the opening.

Mrs. J. Wilds' candy table was most popular with the small fry, as was the fish pond which was looked after by Mrs. W. Wayne and Miss Sharon Kopp. Mrs. Hamish MacNeill and Mrs. V. Milner-Jones were kept busy with home cooking and garden produce, while Mrs. A. West was in charge of novelties and surprise packages.

"CHRISTMAS CAKE"

- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 1 1/2 cups brown sugar
- 3 egg yolks
- 5 egg whites
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1/4 teaspoon soda
- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1/4 cup additional flour for dredging fruit
- 1/2 teaspoon Maltin's powdered cloves
- 1/2 teaspoon Maltin's nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon Maltin's allspice
- 1/2 teaspoon Maltin's cinnamon
- 1 lb. mixed candied peel or mixed candied fruit
- 1/4 lb. glazed cherries
- 2 lbs. Maltin's raisins
- 1 lb. broken pecans
- 1/2 cup Maltin's pure strawberry jam
- 1 1/2 teaspoons Maltin's vanilla
- 1 1/2 teaspoons Maltin's lemon flavoring
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Cream butter, add sugar and cream well. Add beaten egg yolks and beat well. Add honey, then soda. Sift together the pre-sifted flour and the spices. Add flour and spices to butter mixture. Add floured fruit and nuts. Add strawberry jam, flavouring and salt. Beat egg whites to soft peak stage and fold into the mixture. Bake in a pan lined with aluminum foil, ungreased, and the lining cut high over the pan so that it may be folded over the cake for the first 2 1/4 hours of baking. Bake at 275 degrees until a toothpick or cake tester inserted in the centre comes out dry (about 4 hours).

TIPS: To measure brown sugar use a dry measuring cup and pack tightly. Heavy brown paper may be used instead of aluminum foil for lining the pans, but it should be greased. This recipe makes one large loaf cake or one large square cake. The loaf cake will take a little longer to bake than will the square cake, because of its depth.

Bucks Bounce Canadians Tight 4-3

BUCKAROOS 4 CANADIANS 3
VERNON (Staff) — Vernon Canadians lost their eighth game in as many starts in Civic Arena Tuesday, dropping a 4-3 decision to high-flying Kelowna Buckerboos.

It qualified the locals for the title of the junior league's hard luck club since the Vernon team has lost about half its games this year by one goal margins.

Bob Gruber scored the tie-breaking goal at 14:10 of this third period to win the game for the visitors.

Although Kelowna's Sunny Herbst made it 1-0 at the 7:15 mark of the first it was strictly Vernon in that stanza with the Canucks putting the pressure on and managing to keep the Bucs off stride throughout the period. Sid Shussel in the nets for Kelowna came up with some beauties but was no match for Sieko "Tiger" Ouchi who made it one apiece at the 9:33 mark on a terrific slap shot from the blue line.

Warren Henry set Ouchi up in the centre zone and Sieko took it from there. At the 10:40 mark Vernon's Larry Stevens put his club ahead with some close stick handling with team mate Ike Cotter from in front of Kelowna nets.

Neither team managed to hit the score sheet throughout the second period: which was marked by a total of 24 minutes of penalties to both clubs. Kelowna received 13 minutes to Vernon's 11. Tempers flared at the 5:05 mark of the second when Martin Schaefer and Don McKay each received two minutes for roughing.

COOLED OFF
Buc's Martin Schaefer was back in the box a minute and 20 seconds later for charging. At 9:13 it was Vernon's turn when Gary Sherk was cooled off for two minutes for kneeling. Phil Larden and Gary Sherk tangled at the 11:40 mark and each received 5 minutes for fighting and Larden received a further 2 minutes for slashing. Martin Schaefer and Canuck defenceman Warren Henry tangled and each received 2 minutes to think it over for roughing.

Buc's Sunny Herbst wasted no time in the third period when he made it his second goal of the night to beat Vernon netman George Beck at the 1:01 mark of the third to even up the game at two apiece.

Although Vernon was trying to manage to hold off the swarming Bucs who seemed to be everywhere.

George Beck in the Vernon nets came up with some fantastic saves which brought the fans to their feet.

Buc's captain Bob Gruber then scored the winner unassisted. Kelowna's Thomas clinked it at 15:27 with another unassisted goal.

Vernon's final goal was scored with just two minutes to go in the final period, an effort Sieko Ouchi on a pass from Wayne Morris.

SHOTS ON GOAL
Vernon 14, 10, 10—Total 34
Kelowna 11, 17, 16—Total 44

Bettors Favor Bombers In Stamp Clash Tonight

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Calgary Stampeders clash for the fifth time this season at 8:30 CST tonight, and if the oddsmakers are right, it will be their last encounter.

Bombers, who won the first game of the best-of-three Western Football Conference final 14-1 last Saturday, are 13½-point favorites to take tonight's second contest.

But Calgary coach Bobby Dobbs said his players packed their bags for a five-day stay in Winnipeg. That means they expect to be around for a third game next Saturday at 2 p.m. CST.

The Stampeders don't believe the Bombers can take five straight victories from them. Before the playoffs, Winnipeg beat Calgary 18-17, 25-6 and 42-7 as they rolled to a first-place finish. Calgary finished third but upset the second-place Edmonton Eskimos 27-26 in the two-game, total-points semi-final.

The question that bothered Dobbs and Bombers' coach Bud Grant the most was: What will the weather be?

The weatherman's reply early today was: Cloudy skies; temperatures about 25 degrees; a southerly wind at about 15 miles an hour. There was no immediate prospect of snow.

That meant a hard, but relatively fast field. Passing was expected to be an important part of each team's attack. The passing attack at Calgary Saturday was pretty well taken away by 25-to-40-mile-an-hour winds.

Dobbs said rookie Ed Buchanan will play in place of 42-7 as they rolled to a first-place finish. Calgary finished third but upset the second-place Edmonton Eskimos 27-26 in the two-game, total-points semi-final.

SUDDENLY — INGARFIELD

Big Scoring Splurge Credit To Line-Earl

Earl Ingarfield seriously considered giving up hockey last summer.

The 27-year-old centre figured he wasn't getting anywhere. He only had 15 goals in 121 games with New York Rangers.

But things have changed. Placed between Andy Bathgate and Dean Prentice, a pair of crafty wingers, Ingarfield suddenly has emerged into a big scorer.

The trio itself is the most productive in the National Hockey League so far this season. It is collecting scoring points—70 in 18 games—at a rate that would eclipse several league marks.

Bathgate leads the way with nine goals and 22 assists. Ingarfield has 11 goals, tops on the club and second best in the league, and nine assists while Prentice has six goals and 13 assists.

WOULD NET 273
That's a clip that would net the line a whopping 273 points over the NHL's 70-game schedule. The record of 226 points was set in 1956-57 by Detroit's Gordie Howe, Ted Lindsay and Norm Ullman.

What's the key to Ingarfield's success? "When you play between players like Bathgate and Prentice, it's easy," says Ingarfield modestly. "They make all the big plays."

The unit has provided the big offensive spark for the surprising Rangers, who tonight could move into first place in the NHL with a win over Detroit. The game is in New York and it's the only one scheduled.

Thursday night the Rangers move on to Boston for a game against the Bruins. All other teams also will be in action Thursday with Detroit visiting Montreal and Toronto going to Chicago.

Ingarfield, Bathgate and Prentice have accumulated 15 more points than the NHL's next best unit — Henri Richard, Claude Provost and Marcel Bonin of Canadiens.

OFTEN OVERSHADOWED
Bathgate, 23, always considered a smart right winger but often overshadowed by the heroes of Maurice (Rocket) Richard, Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion and Howe, would wind up with 120 points — 35 goals and 85 assists — if he maintained his present pace.

The odds, however, are against him. Other players have started strongly in recent seasons but tapered off towards the end and failed to break the 100-point barrier. Geoffrion appeared to have a good chance last season, but finished with 95 points.

The record is 96. It was set by left winger Dickie Moore of the Canadiens in 1958-59.

The most assists ever accumulated by a player was 58 by Jean Beliveau of Montreal last season. The record for most assists by a right winger is 49. Howe established this mark last season.

Bathgate gives New York playing — coach Doug Harvey a lot of credit for his fast start.

Frank Robinson Cited As National League's Best

BOSTON (AP)—Frank Robinson, Cincinnati's lusty-hitting outfielder who backbanned the Reds to their first pennant in 21 years last season, today was named the National League's most valuable player of 1961.

Robinson gained all but one of 16 first-place votes. One member of a special committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America put the right fielder in second place.

Robinson polled 219 of a possible 224 points. Far back in second place with 117 points was San Francisco Giants' Orlando Cepeda, who paced the National League in home runs and runs batted in.

Cincinnati outfielder Vada Pinson was third with 104 points. Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh Pirates was fourth with 81 and Redlegs' pitcher Joey Jay was fifth with 74. Jay received the other first-place vote.

"Wow!" exclaimed Robinson when notified of his victory. "This is a wonderful wedding present for me."

Robinson, 26, disclosed he had married three weeks ago. His bride is the former Barbara Cole of Los Angeles.

Robinson, the league's outstanding rookie when he broke in with the Redlegs in 1956, batted .323 over the 1961 season, hitting 37 homers, driving in 124 runs and stealing 22 bases.

A late season slump cost him any chance he had of leading the senior loop in home runs or RBI. Cepeda was the pace-setter in both departments with 46 homers and 142 RBI.

Robinson is the first Cincinnati player to win the MVP award since Frank McCormick won it in 1940.

Dick Groat, 1960 winner, failed to gain a single point this year. So did Chicago's Ernie Banks, the 1958 and 1959 winner.

Cepeda, 24, rookie of the year in 1959, batted .311 for the Giants with 182 hits in 585 trips. Pinson, 23, trailed by eight points in the league batting race, hitting .343 to Clemente's .351.

Win Or Lose — McTavish Rink Is Talk Of Totem

VANCOUVER (CP) — Win or lose from now on, the Jack McTavish rink from San Francisco will be the talk of the Totem.

The pickup foursome of ex-patiate Canadians, gambling nearly all the way, scored their fourth, fifth and sixth straight victories Tuesday in the week-long Totem bonspiel.

They moved into the silverware by reaching the semi-finals of the primary Totem event, then advanced safely through the first round of the 32-rink championship playoff.

They face some stiff opposition the rest of the week.

In San Francisco, they play just once a week — compared with the two or three of the average club courier here — and they don't play together as a unit in California.

MacTavish, who moved to San Francisco 10 years ago from Lethbridge, Alta., calls the shots here but throws third rocks, with Corroll McCune, formerly of Galt, Ont., throwing last rocks. Ted Adams, formerly of Vancouver, is lead and Dr. Hal Brown, a Winnipeg resident until 12 years ago, is second.

The Cinderella foursome advanced to the Totem event semi-finals Tuesday along with bonspiel favorites Lynn Dagg and Howie Christopherson of Vancouver and Buzz McGibney of Rossland, B.C.

WINS 7 STRAIGHT
McGibney, third for years with six-time provincial champion Reg Stone of Trail, B.C., extended his record to seven straight victories Tuesday—the best in the bonspiel — when he ousted former B.C. champion Glen Harper of Duncan from the championship round.

MacTavish, McGibney, Dagg and Christopherson all advanced in the championship event, which began Tuesday night with the top 32 rinks of the 160-rink bonspiel having qualified.

MacTavish defeated Mickey Brenne, former hockey player from Trail, 11-10 in his first Tuesday match, then trampled Jim Purves of Vancouver 15-2 to reach the Totem event semi-finals. He defeated Pat Peterson of suburban Richmond 13-11 in the first round of championship play.

Mount Washington, towering 6,288 feet in New Hampshire's Presidential range, has a wind velocity record of 231 miles an hour.

Calgary Getting New WHL Respect

Two veteran forwards have finally shaken a slow start to again make Calgary Stampeders one of the Western Hockey League's most respected teams.

Sid Finney and Gordie Vejprava, who coach Alf Pike threatened to trade because they weren't producing earlier this season, figured prominently in the scoring as the Stampeders downed the hometown Los Angeles Blades 5-3 Tuesday night.

They face some stiff opposition the rest of the week.

In San Francisco, they play just once a week — compared with the two or three of the average club courier here — and they don't play together as a unit in California.

Adenauer Set To Demand Tearing Down Of 'Wall'

WASHINGTON (CP) — Qualified West German sources said Monday night that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer demands that the wall dividing East and West Berlin be torn down as a condition for settlement of the Berlin crisis but not as a condition for entering East-West negotiations.

"The chancellor is not posing any ultimatum for entering these negotiations," the informant added in commenting on the first day of talks between the German leader and President Kennedy to help unite the West and prepare for a possible conference with the Kremlin.

The chancellor insists that the Western powers make clear in talks with the Russians that the wall must come down in any agreement reached. There also must be a firm pledge to the political and economic "viability" of West Berlin with West Germany.

Kennedy has refrained from making clear whether he fully supports the West German position on the wall issue.

Students All Mixed Up On Confederation Issue

QUEBEC (CP) — Students returning to their universities from the Canadian Affairs Conference at Laval Monday were probably carrying a host of conflicting ideas about Confederation and English-French relations.

Aim of the four-day meeting, which ended Saturday, was to study Confederation—has it succeeded or failed?

The 65 delegates heard several speakers, both French and English, say English-Canada needs the French to survive cultural assimilation by the United States.

"You need us more than we need you," the students heard Quebec Resources Minister Rene Levesque declare.

And the retort, from Douglas Fisher, CCF member of Parliament: "If we need you, it goes double for us."

They heard Murray Ballantyne, Montreal author and historian, declare that all French-Canadians want acceptance, "the right to be themselves in every part of Canada."

It's too late, replied separatist leader Dr. Marcel Chaput. "We no longer want to be a minority. We want to be masters of our own destiny."

They heard Montreal Journalist Andre Laurendeau and labor executive Dr. Eugene Forsey express fears that English-Canada may be giving up the struggle for cultural identity apart from the U.S.

Separatism has appeared in French-Canada; indifference and fatalism appear to be winning in English-Canada, said Mr. Laurendeau, editor of Le Devoir.

"Hemi - demi - semi - separatism" could tempt English-Canada to abandon Confederation as a "mistake and a failure," declared Dr. Forsey, research director of the Canadian Labor Congress.

The students, from 30 colleges and universities, heard many speakers say Confederation and the constitution need modernization. But they also heard Mr. Fisher say that "from a personal point of view it has been a very great success."

Mr. Levesque and Premier Lesage of Quebec said Ottawa must give back some of the powers it has taken over the years in times of stress, such as war and depression.

Opening lead—two of clubs.

Pinocchio is a crazy, mixed-up game—at least to anyone not familiar with it. Not only are there 48 cards in the deck instead of 52, but there are also no cards lower than a nine.

What's more, there are two queens of spades in the deck, and two aces of hearts, and, in fact, every card has a twin—an identical twin, no less.

Just to add to the confusion, the cards rank in order from the ace down to the nine, just as in bridge, but for one exception—the ten is higher than the king.

Now my friend John, an inveterate pinocchio player who never said a kind word about bridge in all his years—though he understood the game—was in the club one day and there weren't enough players around to form a pinocchio game. So he consented to play bridge just for kicks.

The first hand out of the box he picked up the South duke. He quickly got to six spades. Now John is a pretty good card player, and saw right away that he couldn't make twelve tricks even though he got a club lead and ruffed the ace.

But he thought that if he ran off all the trumps the defense might get mixed up and chuck the hand to him. So he led the ace of spades, continued with the ten, and was just about to play the king when East interrupted and said, "It's my lead."

You see, John had forgotten he was playing bridge, not pinocchio, and that the ten did not rank next to the ace. So East won the ten with the jack. But this inadvertent play turned out to be just what the doctor ordered. East was on lead and had to return a club or else play away from one of his red kings. As a result of the goof, John made the slam. John doesn't play pinocchio any more. You just can't tear him away from the bridge table.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

THIS DAY'S influences tend to make some persons moody and sensitive, so emphasize tact in all relationships. In other respects, this period should be a fine for both job and financial gain. Not only will your own efforts and ideas be governed by excellent stimuli, but there is promise of co-operation from those in a position to help further your goals. Another good period along these lines will occur in the middle of next year.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, during the next three months, it would be advisable to capitalize on every available opportunity, since the aspects will be fine for both job and financial gain. Not only will your own efforts and ideas be governed by excellent stimuli, but there is promise of co-operation from those in a position to help further your goals. Another good period along these lines will occur in the middle of next year.

Early 1962 will be a good period for scientific and creative work; also for matters requiring a high degree of executive ability. If you get an opportunity to travel in mid-year, do take advantage of it, since friendships and business contacts made then could prove of great value later. Romance will be under fine aspects in December; also between May and late August.

A child born on this day will have a charming and lovable disposition, but may be too susceptible to flattery.

Immediate Farm Future Brighter Says Hamilton

OTTAWA (CP) — The immediate farm future looks generally brighter than it did a year ago, Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton said today.

With some energy, some luck, drought and $175,000,000 of federal credit, the cereal surplus "that bothered us a few years ago is now a considerable asset," Mr. Hamilton told the 1961 federal-provincial agriculture conference.

Prices were higher because of the government's decided effort to devalue the Canadian dollar.

Mr. Hamilton acknowledged the dairy situation is not as bright with mounting surpluses in butter held by the federal government and dried skim milk powder held by private business.

The government was striving to form a national dairy policy and export outlets would also be sought.

DEVELOP NEW FOODS
He recalled that the government has developed a method for producing instant potatoes and subsequently has produced "a dozen new foods using po-atoes, turnips, chicken, beef and fish in instant form." "I think it is safe in a general way to predict that in the next 15 years we will need between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000 more cattle in Canada. . . I think our first search should be to find more opportunities for grass-land in every part of the dominion."

He called on all ministers to encourage an increase of beef production in Canada. "I think it is safe in a general way to predict that in the next 15 years we will need between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000 more cattle in Canada. . . I think our first search should be to find more opportunities for grass-land in every part of the dominion."

He said prairie drought indicated the immediate need of 1,000,000 more acres of community pastures. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick could also do with community pastures.

Canada Must 'Find Place' In World For New Era

OTTAWA (CP) — It has become abundantly clear in 1961 that a new era in world trading relationships is upon us

'Come And See' Invite By S. Africa

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — South Africa offered today to invite three former presidents of the United Nations General Assembly to visit South-West Africa make an on-the-spot investigation of conditions in the former German colony administered by South Africa for the last 41 years.

South African Foreign Minister Eric Louw told the trusteeship committee: "Every opportunity will be given to them to see for themselves whether there exists any threat to international peace and security, or whether there is any truth in the allegations relating to military terrorization, the existence of an explosive situation and planned extermination."

He said the three former presidents had not yet been approached and their names, therefore, could not be disclosed at the moment.

and that Canada must determine its place and policies in this new era." President J. H. Hannam of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture said Tuesday.

Britain's decision to negotiate possible entry into the European Common Market underlines the need for "fundamental re-examination of Canadian trade policy which is so basic to agriculture," Dr. Hannam told the federal-provincial agriculture conference.

He was making the annual statement of the federation to the conference.

"The Canadian Federation of Agriculture has always looked upon the development of the Common Market as being in principle a policy of statesmanship and wisdom," Dr. Hannam said.

ONLY RIGHT ANSWER

The federation did not overlook the dangers of a protectionists attitude by the market "but it has believed that the only right answer to these problems lies in fully acknowledging the rightness of the Common Market concept and bending our energies through consultation, agreement, and enlightened trade policy on our part, toward turning to our benefit the trade potential which should be opened up by an economically united, prosperous and expanding Europe.

The federation brief also offered these views:

The farm labor force has remained virtually constant in 1961 for the first time since 1954 and the decline in the number of farmers has showed only a small decline.

Prairie drought has created an income crisis for a great many western farmers.

The dairy industry faces extremely critical problems, posing weighty decisions for federal and provincial governments.

Expanded farm credit is having an important impact on the farm industry's structure. The need for crop insurance programs continues.

Gottwald's Body Next For Moving

PRAGUE (Reuters) — The body of Klement Gottwald, former Communist president of Czechoslovakia, will be moved from its mausoleum here under sweeping measures announced today to destroy the Stalinist "cult of the personality."

President Antonin Novotny told a recent three-day party central committee meeting, the official Czecho news agency reported, that the body of Gottwald, who died in 1953, should be reinterred "in the same manner as those of the other leading fighters in the party."
